Carol A. Dahir, Ed.D., is a professor and chair of the School Counseling Department at NYIT where she began her career in Higher Education in 2000. Prior to that, she worked as a classroom teacher, school counselor and supervisor of school counseling and pupil personnel services. For more than 25 years, Carol Dahir has worked extensively with numerous state departments of education, school systems, school counselor associations, and national organizations as a consultant to design, implement, and evaluate comprehensive school counseling programs. Dr. Dahir served as the project director for the ASCA's National Standards development and Planning for Life initiative.

For the past 10 years she has facilitated experiential summer programs for school counselors, teachers, and graduate students in cultural competence both in New York City and in Turkey. Her Fulbright research brought her to Japan where she assisted in bringing Transformed School Counseling to Japanese counselor educators and to Turkey to help develop school counseling standards and comprehensive programs.

She is a past president of the New York State School Counselor Association and has served on the governing boards for the American School Counselor Association and the National Career Development Association. Carol Dahir is the co-author of ASCA's Sharing the Vision: The National Standards for School Counseling Programs and Vision into Action: Implementing the National Standards. Together with Dr. Carolyn Stone, they have published three editions of The Transformed School Counselor (2006, 2012, 2016) and three editions of School Counselor Accountability: A MEASURE of Student Success (2004, 2007, 2011)
